FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Energy is the driving force behind modern civilization, yet millions around the world still lack access to reliable and sustainable power. Sustainable Development Goal 7 (SDG 7) calls for affordable, reliable, sustainable, and modern energy for all, emphasizing the need to transition towards clean energy sources such as solar, wind, and hydroelectric power.

As a school committed to shaping responsible global citizens, we must encourage energy conservation and promote renewable solutions in our daily lives. Simple actions like turning off unused lights, opting for energy-efficient appliances, and supporting green initiatives can make a significant difference.

By embracing sustainable energy practices, we contribute to a cleaner environment and a more equitable future for all. Let us take a step forward in making our school and community a hub of sustainability, ensuring that future generations inherit a planet powered by clean and renewable energy.
